Lower Speed Limit On Highway 42 Is Sought By Traffic Committee

A survey to determine whether the 60-mile-an-hour speed limit on U.S. 42 from a point near the Louisville city limits to its intersection with Old Brownsboro Road at Rudy Lane will be asked of the State Highway Department.

The study was recommended by the Jefferson County Traffic Advisory Committee Tuesday after receipt of a letter from J. B. Buren, Indian Ridge Subdivision, protesting the high rate of speed in the rapidly growing area. A maximum speed of 45 miles is permitted along the highway for a few blocks near the Louisville boundary.

Committee members also recommended to County Judge Bertram Van Arsdale that the 50-mile limit on the following roads be cut to 35:

Middletown cutoff of U.S. 60, Old Henry Road from Evergreen Road to English Station Road, Fairdale Road from Mt. Holly Road to National Turnpike, Manslick Road from Preston Highway to a point .05 mile east of Smyrna Road, Maple Road from Manslick Road to Cooper Chapel Road, Cooper Chapel Road from Price Lane to a point a half mile west of Maple Road, South Park Road from National Turnpike to Preston Highway, Lake Dreamland Road from Camp Ground Road to Lake Dreamland, and Camp Ground Road from Cane Run Road to Lee's Lane.

The committee recommended that the 50-mile limit on Watson Lane from Lower River Road to Dixie Highway be lowered to 25 and disapproved requests to lower the 50-mile limit on Hurstbourne Lane between Shelbyville and Taylorsville Roads and Vaughan Mill Road for a mile and a half south of Fegenbush Lane.

Victor Orlandi Wins Trophy In Optimist Club Oratorical Contest

A five-minute talk on "Freedom, Our Precious Heritage" won for Victor Orlandi, 12-year-old son of Mayor and Mrs. John T. Orlandi a handsome trophy in an oratorical contest sponsored by the Jeffersontown Optimist Club.

The contest was held at Monday night's meeting of the club at Christ Lutheran Church. By virtue of his winning the local contest, Victor earned the right to represent the Jeffersontown club in similar competition at the Third District convention of Optimist International at Ashland in May.

Second and third place winners were Bill Miller, 12, a pupil at Jeffersontown School, and Willis F. Adams, also 12, a student at Jeffersontown Colored School. Victor attends Alex R. Kennedy School.

In addition to the trophy, prizes included pencils, bats and baseballs. Presentations were made by Edward W. Kuffner, vice president of the club and chairman of boys' work for the organization.

In winning the contest, Victor said in part:

"Many of our ancestors fought and died so that we might have this great gift of freedom. And today it is still regarded as a priceless thing that we, you and I are ready to fight for if and when it becomes necessary to do so. Refugees from other countries risk their lives to get away from "iron curtains" so that they may have this thing that we accept as a gift.

"Yet right under our very noses, a small group is at work to restrict the freedom and rights of many for the benefit of a few. Most of us refer to them as Communists, but their goal should be more alarming to us than their name. Either they have never learned the value of freedom and democracy or they feel that they can secure power only by force rather than by democratic competition. We must learn to be aware of their schemes and "fronts." We must combat them with every democratic process which we have.

"Democratic education means to live and let live, to learn and let learn, to love and let love, and even to hate and let hate as long as basic rights of men in general are not violated. As heirs of a great legacy, the watchword of all Americans should be, "Let Freedom Ring!"

A Safety Poster Contest will highlight the Seventh Annual Kite Flying Tournament sponsored by the Jefferson County Playground and Recreation Board at 10 a.m. Saturday, March 31, at the Jeffersontown School Playground. A total of six persons, cited last week by Police Chief Adolph Mahoney for parking on the wrong side of the street paid $2 fines each before the court session. Another alleged parking violator failed to appear.

In another matter, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Roby, operators of Kozy Corner, were held for grand jury action April 3 on assault charges. They were arrested on warrants following a fight the night of March 21.

Deaths Of Baby, Soldier Bring '56 Traffic Toll To 7

The 1956 traffic toll in Jefferson County outside Louisville rose to seven — the same as for the corresponding period last year — Monday when a Fort Knox Army sergeant was killed as his automobile ran off Dixie Highway and struck a utility pole at Pleasure Ridge Park.

The victim was Lloyd E. Warren, 36, a native of Russellville, Ky., and a veteran of the Korean encounter. He was returning to the post where he is assigned to the 89th Tank Battalion. County police said Sergeant Warren apparently fell asleep at the wheel. He suffered a skull fracture.

Sixth victim of 1956 was 4-month-old Deborah Lynn Greenwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Greenwell, 125 East Ormsby Avenue, Louisville. She died of a skull fracture while being taken to a hospital.

The baby was killed and five others were injured at 12:15 p.m. Sunday in a head-on crash on Bardstown Road, a mile south of Fern Creek.

County Patrolman James Robinson said an automobile driven by Robbie Gray, 19, Beulah Church Road, was attempting to pass a northbound car making a right turn into Wingfield Lane and clipped its rear fender.

The impact threw the Gray car into the path of the southbound Greenwell car. Passengers in the latter auto included Mr. and Mrs. Greenwell and 3-year-old Joseph J. Greenwell, Jr., The parents were taken to Jewish Hospital and the boy to Kentucky Baptist.

Robbie and his brother, Donald, 15, both were injured. Robbie was taken to Kentucky Baptist Hospital with a head injury and Donald to General with facial cuts and internal injuries. Donald later was released.

William O'Bryan, 18, Fern Creek, driver of the auto making the turn into Wingfield Lane, was uninjured.

2 New Schools OKd By County Education Board

A decision to virtually empty its till in favor of providing the ever increasing school population with additional classrooms was made Monday night by the Jefferson County Board of Education.

In so doing, the board voted to build two additional schools and an addition to another to cost a total of $1,754,000. This figure, together with $577,000 already contracted for, will bring the total expenditure to $2,331,000, leaving a balance of $56,000 in the building fund treasury.

Funds for the building program are provided in a special 50-cent tax levy authorized by voters in the 1952 election.

Projects planned are the Okolona School on Miles Lane, the Kosmosdale School on Watson Lane and an addition to Butler Junior High, Shively. Contracts have been awarded for the Johnstown Road School. The new schools are estimated to cost $577,000 each and the Butler addition $600,000.

Richard Van Hoose, superintendent, in recommending construction of the new buildings and the addition, said at least $6,885,000 is needed to provide the necessary education facilities. Membership in county schools is increasing by approximately 5,000 per year. This year's figure is 31,800 and estimates for the 1956-57 term are 36,461.

He said six other projects were essential. They include a new Goldsmith Junior High School, a replacement for Greenwood Elementary, an addition to Waggener Junior High, a new Fairdale Junior High, a new Herr Lane Elementary and an addition to Durrett Junior High. Cost of the six was placed at $4,554,000 which the board does not have available.

The Johnstown Road school will relieve overcrowded conditions at Valley Elementary which is holding double sessions and will assist the Waller and Greenwood Schools with membership problems.

The addition to Butler, which would be adequate to house the September membership, is not expected to be completed until January 1, 1957.

Legality Of Charging For School Bus Rides To Get Test In Court

A court action to test the legality of charging county pupils for riding busses to and from schools was authorized by the Jefferson County Board of Education at its Monday night meeting.

The action was authorized after a discussion of finances after which a recommendation to purchase 10 new vehicles was made. Twice that number are required to handle the ever growing school population in addition to the 192 now in use.

State law requires school boards to provide transportation to elementary school pupils who live beyond a reasonable walking distance from schools and further stipulates that boards may provide transportation to high school students.

The law further states that such transportation will be financed by school boards' general funds "or otherwise." The "or otherwise" stipulation is what the board authorized to have tested in the courts.

Lucian Johnson, attorney for the board, said a decision might be reached in the lower courts in 30 days. In the event the case goes to the Court of Appeals, at least 60 days would be required for a decision, he estimated.

The 192 busses now in operation carry an average of 134 pupils which means that 25,000 ride the vehicles regularly. Of the number, more than 6,000 are high school students.

Under its present policy, the board, with few exceptions, is providing free transportation to elementary pupils living more than a mile from schools and to high school students living more than a mile and a half from schools.

Test Suit Filed

Constitutionality of legislation permitting the Louisville and Jefferson County Boards of education to levy an occupational tax for educational purposes if voters approve was filed in Jefferson Circuit Court Tuesday.

The action, in form of a test case, was filed by Richard I. McIntosh, attorney, representing Gene Sims, 16 Glenwood Road, the plaintiff; Lucian Johnson, representing the county school board, and James W. Stites, the city board.

Sims, also an attorney, alleges he pays property tax to the county, but works in the city and would pay the proposed occupational tax to the city.

A referendum on the proposed tax has been tentatively set for June 30. The levy would yield an estimated $3,500,000 a year to Louisville schools and $1,250,000 to county institutions.

McIntosh is a former chairman of the County Board of Education.

CALL TO REVAMP OUR FOREIGN POLICY

Senator Knowland, as minority leader among his colleagues in the Senate, has on some occasions differed with Administration leaders in the realm of foreign policy. He still stands, however, respected and honored by his associates of both parties.

In a recent speech he referred to the nation's foreign policy as being too important a matter to be left to government alone, concerning 165 million Americans. Pointing to the tremendous gains made by communism since 1945, he observed that at that time there were less than 200 million people behind the iron curtain. Now there are 900 million. Said he, "their totalitarian rulers are united in the common objective of making a communist world."

While no enemy of the collective security idea—finding it necessary in the present state of the world—he believes the faults and failures have been great. One example is cited in the Korean War, when only 17 of the then 60 United Nations members supplied armed forces to resist the aggression. It was left to Uncle Sam to supply 90 per cent of those forces and 95 per cent of the other needed resources. Since World War II this country has carried a world's burden of economy through our grants and loans to other countries in the staggering sum of over $52 billion.

Senator Knowland is one who has no faith in the soft talk coming out of Russia from the Communist leaders. Such as from Khrushchev: "Anybody who takes our smile for withdrawal from the teachings of Karl Marx or Lenin is making a mistake." Mr. Knowland is not making that mistake.

Thus, at this point, the Senator asks: "Can our economic system survive prolonged burdens of building a system of collective security and a system of naturalism at one and the same time? If the neutralists are to receive the benefits and have none of the responsibilities of those in the collective defense system, will not that act as an incentive plan to build up the fence sitters?"

The various states are entitled to the kinds of government and economy they want. But realistically Senator Knowland sees this country's resources as not unlimited. He believes too that "we would command more respect from our allies, from the neutrals and from our potential enemies if we insisted on a fair quid pro quo for agreements entered into. We should stress the point that an alliance is of little value unless the other party has as much obligation to come to our defense in case of attack as we have to go to theirs."

IT HAPPENS IN TEXAS, TOO

Other editors, besides yours truly, have taken editorial notice of obstructionists who follow, or sometimes even go ahead of, fire trucks on their precarious way to a fire. These joy riders to the scenes of conflagrations seem to be plaguing firemen here and there all over the country.

Editor Joiner of the Ralls (Tex.) Banner recently took occasion to vent his spleen on this particular type of public enemy, following one episode which took place in his community. This Texas editor said that when a certain farmer turned in the fire alarm to summon help when some of his hay stacks caught fire he had no idea how popular he was, until 150 automobiles turned up. They overran his property and tied up traffic for an hour.

Continuing, sarcastically, Editor Joiner believes the farmer "must have appreciated the interest these 150 people took in leaving their jobs to make such nuisances," and is still wondering, "whether the fire truck got through the open-mouthed group or not." But something he did know was "that when 100 cars answered the fire alarm at the Reece home last week the building was lost to flames because the fire truck and its firemen couldn't squeeze through to tie hose onto a proper hydrant."

This fellow newspaperman, in true Texas style, concludes his condemning remarks with:

"You budding pyromaniacs keep on fouling up firemen's attempts to extinguish fires, and sooner or later the law will be forced to lock you up, or else some responsible citizen will take an elm club and thrash you within an inch of your life for impeding the work of the fire department. And we want pictures of it when it happens."

Maybe Mr. Joiner is himself a fireman. We don't know. But, no matter, he stated the truth, putting the emphasis of the West upon it. And we say, Amen!

SOME ADVICE ON CHOOSING CANDIDATES

. . . Liberals like Adlai Stevenson, Sen. Estes Kefauver and Governor Averill Harriman certainley stand little chance of defeating President Eisenhower. A race like that would be the 1952 campaign all over again despite Harry Truman's statement yesterday that the Democrats "can beat anybody." So facing almost certain defeat anyway what have the Democrats got to lose by putting up a conservative candidate for a change? A man like Governor Lausche of Ohio could bring a good many Democrats back to the fold again and it is our personal feeling that Democratic leaders might be pleasantly surprised at the results of a campaign keynoted to the principles of Jeffersonian democracy instead of one advocating just some more socialistic boondoggling. — Fort Lauderdale (Fla.) News.

A politically independent newspaper recently remarked: "The same political leaders who induced a sick and dying Roosevelt to run for the presidency in 1944 are now acting very shocked at the thought of Eisenhower making the race this time."

Three-fourth of the world's surface is covered with water, and there are times when we feel the other fourth is all wet—Glasgow (Mo.) Missourian.

CAPITAL Roundup

Governor A. B. Chandler has commissioned Charles K. Rieger, executive of the General Electric Corporation, Louisville, to serve as Kentucky's official representative at a top level conference of Southeastern business and economic leaders at Charlottesville, Va., the first week in May.

Rieger, who is vice president and general manager of GE's Appliance and Television Receiver Division, has conferred with Governor Chandler and George W. Hubley, Jr., executive director of the Kentucky Agricultural and Industrial Development Board, about his participation in the conference.

Rieger remarked to Hubley, after a tour through the board's offices, that he was "much impressed" with the amount of economic and technical data the board has developed to assist businesses desiring to locate plants in Kentucky.

Governor Chandler designated the week of April 22-28 as "Medical Education Week" and asked that Kentuckians acknowledge its common debt to medical schools and to "foster their continuing foundation and security."

It was noted that medical schools throughout the country are endeavoring to raise $10,000,000 as "additional income to discharge their responsibilities to the nation."

Also proclaimed was April 25 as "Kentucky Social Hygiene Day."

Governor Chandler called on Kentuckians to appropriately observe the week of April 19-24 as "Youth Temperance Education Week" in the state and commended its purposes to all citizens of the state as a "worthy program."

"Temperance is a virtue which, properly applied, would resolve many of the difficulties which we confront," said the governor.

"Temperance is a matter of such grave importance that to merit serious attention and consideration by all those whose association, action or leadership might be calculated to influence the lives and habits of younger people."

The state area trade schools and high schools offering trade, industrial and distributive courses had 7,924 pupils enrolled last month, according to a report of Harold G. Wilson, director of the Division of Vocational Education's Trades and Industries section.

Largest enrollment was recorded in Louisville Vocational Schools where 2,202 of the number were enrolled, and second highest number was at Mayo Vocational School where the enrollment was 1,005. Enrollment at Jefferson County Vocational School at Valley Station was 321.

Its finally happened — deep Yankee land has been invaded by Kentuckians!

This year for the first time a Kentucky display was entered in the Milwaukee Sentinel Sport and Travel Show. The 16th annual show opened March 17 and closed March 25.

On hand to man the Kentucky Booth at the show and to tell the folks of Milwaukee and Wisconsin about Kentucky were W. L. Knight, Division of Publicity, and Albert Henson, Department of Game and Wildlife Resources.

A plan to "rebuild Kentucky's forests and at the same time build our dependent youth into responsible men" was revealed when Governor Chandler announced that a site at Kentucky Dam Village has been selected for a 100-acre tree nursery to be operated by teen-age boys who are charges of the state.

The youngsters will be housed in a barracks type camp to be constructed near the nursery where a "tent city" will be set up this summer.

"SACREDNESS OF PROPERTY"

There was a time one's belongings meant so much that he was ready to fight for them. They were not necessarily valuable, but they belonged to him. That made them have a peculiar value that money cannot represent. Of course, there is still much of this feeling among us, but many modern customs have made inroads into this sacred realm.

Suppose we begin with a carriage, which was and is and may always be a symbol of being somebody. When the buggy was a mark of being well-to-do or, at least, respectable, there was a great pride in the vehicle. It was not dated as such and did not have to be replaced every so often by a new model. What had done for a buggy when I could first remember was still respectable when I left Fidelity but not long after, for automobiles came in and set a new style.

Before some people could own a buggy or the acme of family carriages, the family surrey, the new car came along; the fanciest buggy or surrey soon took a back seat, or more accurately, a dusty place under the shed. For a long time it seemed too sacred a thing to destroy or even to give to the small boys to play with; chickens roosted on and in it, English Sparrows built nests in crannies of it, mice and rats and squirrels sought it out for material for nests.

By and by, when it was apparent that the automobile had come to stay, the old vehicle's room was needed as a place to store a tractor or some other farm machinery, and the out-of-date old vehicle went the way of used-up human institutions.

Furniture is another thing that has had many ups and downs in being important. For a long time the few pieces that some people had were kept immaculate, if that word can be applied to an object that was emblamed in paint every spring until its original wood was buried deep to await a later time when antique seekers would remove the many layers of paint and let the natural wood again appear.

In many a home that I knew, however, a small streak of good luck in the family finances caused a general disuse of the old things, which were relegated to the shedroom of the smokehouse or stored in an attic or even thrown away. Some fine old beds became settees on the front porch. A few people that I knew never lost a sort of sentimental feeling for the old stuff, even though they would not have let it stay around in plain view. And then some granddaughter or neighbor girl got the antique craze and began to search out the old attics and shed rooms. What had been rejected, like the cornerstone or coping stone in the Bible phase, "became the head of the corner" again. I will probably not live another hundred years and see this wave of antique-hunting die down. If history runs true to form, there will be another wave of discarding the old stuff, which may not be strong enough to endure the interregnum before another time brings antiques back in style.

Clothes used to mean a lot more than they do now though some of mine have been around long enough for me to get sentimentally attached to them. However, I am unlike one of my colleagues, who, not more than five years ago, still had a pair of good shoes that he had worn at the end of World War I.

I think of an elderly lady whom I knew, long after I left Fidelity, who did not want to buy a new hat to replace the very ancient one she was wearing; she remonstrated with her daughter-in-law for suggesting a new hat; the old one was still not worn out. Frankly, it is hard, even in our civilized time, to give up an old coat or a hat that has seen too many years or a pair of shoes that have ceased to look like shoes and look like our distorted feet.

Maybe there is poetry in the very rapid change that we have to face; as yet no big poet has attached a poem to this hard fact of everyday life; we still like to think of the old, the long-known, the out-of-style, even.

A LOOK AT THE BOOK

The disciples of darkness—Joseph of Arimathea and Nicodemus! "Nevertheless among the chief rulers also many believed on him; but because of the Pharisees they did not confess him, lest they should be put out of the synagogue: For they loved the praise of men more than the praise of God" (John 12: 42,43). Among these, I think the names of Nicodemus and Joseph of Arimathea stand. Nicodemus came by night with flattering words upon his tongue and stood before the uncompromising God, who said, "Nicodemus, you must be born again." Whether he experienced salvation that night or not, the Record leaves unsaid; but at least he was convinced intellectually. He had enough assurance to speak in defence of Christ to the extent of saying, when the Pharisees would have taken the Lord to do Him injury, "Doth our law judge any man, before it hear him, and know what he doeth?" (John 7:51). And, apparently, his words were enough to turn the tide on that occasion, for the council broke up and every man went home.

After the crucifixion, Nicodemus, together with Joseph of Arimathea, took the body of the Lord, which Joseph had requested of Pilate, and laid it away in burial. Nicodemus first came by night to meet the conviction of the words of the God who is all light, whose eye sees into the deep, dark places of the human heart. He comes across the sacred pages again in the darkness of the despair which had settled upon the hearts of all who loved the Lord, following the great physical darkness which had covered the land while He was upon the cross; and as the shadows of evening gathered across the sky, with heavy hearts they laid Him away in what they thought would be the last long sleep of death. Disciples of darkness they were, for they feared to speak out openly declaring their allegiance to Him when He needed His followers to rally around. They came when it was too late, to strive by ministering to a dead body to assuage their grief at having failed Him in the hour of His need when He had to tread the winepress alone.

They were disciples, "but secretly," and their care of His body speaks of stricken conscience and regret. These must always follow compromise and cowardice in the lives of those who believe in and love the Saviour but who fail Him in the time of stress.

SOCIALIST COMMUNIST TWINS

One of the key strategies in the Communist conspiracy to enslave the world's 2.3 billion people in a brutal dictatorship was clearly set forth in the pronouncements of Red leaders at the 20th Communist Party Congress held a few weeks ago in Moscow. The leaders stressed that Communists must work for Socialism first — in the nations not yet in the grasp of the Reds. This has been heralded as a "new line" by many high officials of other nations, including some in America.

"Socialism first," as a strategy line for the Communists, is not new; it is as old as the Communist Party. Karl Marx wrote in the Manifesto 108 years ago that a program of Socialism was the first step. Lenin and his band of murderous revolutionaries made their first move in Russia helping Kerensky establish a Socialist government. In fact, wherever the true Communist strategy is published the Party conspirators are told to work for Socialism first.

"Line" For America

The "line" which the Red bosses in Moscow restated at the 20th Congress was dutifully echoed in the February 28 issue of the Communist Daily Worker, published in New York. One of the top American Communists wrote these words: "The Communists advocate and desire a peaceful path to socialism . . ." In the Daily Worker these words constitute merely a renewal of old instructions to the thousands of hidden Reds in the U.S.A. who are infiltrated into all walks of life, including political parties.

Unless the Reds can swing a nation into Socialism, and thus get their secret agents into key positions of power, they do not resort to revolution. Their special strategy in our nation is to disguise the Socialism they are advocating, give it the flavor of logical "social reform." The scheme, Marx wrote, is to gradually transfer ownership or control of the production facilities from private citizens to the government. Thus "public ownership" is a strategic step in the Marxist program. The program, Marx wrote, "cannot be effected except by means of despotic inroads on the rights of (private) property.

Twinship is Official

There are still a great many people who do not understand the inter-relationship of Socialismb and Communism. I have two documents on my desk which I wish every American over 12 years of age could carefully examine. One is an official campaign publication of the Socialist-Labour Party of England; the other is a "special edition" of the Communist Manifesto. The special Manifesto was published by the Socialist-Labour Party of England as a token of appreciation and brotherly regard for the Communists. "Who can doubt our common inspiration?" asks the Socialist-Labour Party in a foreward of the Manifesto.

Perhaps the most significant facts about the Socialist-Labour Party's campaign brochure and the Manifesto are the two platforms, one Socialist, the other Communist. Here are the official platforms (the Socialist planks numbered 1-2-3 etc., and the Communist planks A-B-C etc.): (1) Public, or government, ownership of the essential industries. (A) Factories and instruments of production owned by the State. (2) Government ownership of the railroads and other transport. (B) Centralization of the means of communication and transportation in the hands of the State.

Identical Aims

(3) Government ownership of the Bank of England. (C) Centralization of Credit in the hands of the State, by means of a national bank with State capital and an exclusive monopoly. (4) Government ownership of the land. (D) Abolition of private land ownership. (5) Central planning of production. (E) Central planning of production. (6) Government control of prices and, where necessary, wages. (F) Note: The Manifesto platform does not mention this, but prices and wages are controlled in all Communist countries. (7) Heavy progressive income tax. (G) a heavy progressive, or graduated income tax. (8) Extremely heavy inheritance tax — with final abolition of in heritance. (H) Abolition of all rights of inheritance. (9) Full employment. (1) Note: This was not in the Manifesto platform, but it is in full force in all Communist countries. (10) Government control of medicine. (J) Note: In the Manifesto this action was not mentioned, but in all Communist countries, medical service is operated by the State.

Obviously the economic-social cores of Socialism and Communism are identical. Both take power from the citizens and concentrate it in government. Thus it is sound strategy for the Communists to work for Socialism first. They are of the brotherhood of Socialism, and with power in the hands of a few they can more easily take over.

The NAM quotes from a 1954 address titled "Promise of a Growing America," by Earl Bunting, former managing director of NAM.

Bunting says, in part:

". . . Only 50 years ago the work-energy output of people and animals combined . . . was greater than all work-energy output from mineral fuels . . . Mineral energy and machine do 95 per cent of the physical work today.

"It has been estimated that by 1975 our economy will need nearly twice as much energy as it uses now, from basic energy sources."

There are, basically, two kinds of clocks. One runs by tension, the other by electric current.

I suspect that these basically different types of clocks have their, at least approximate, counterparts in people.

Some run by tension—and seem usually to alternate between being "all wound up" and "all run down."

Others seem to go along fairly steadily from one day to another without either undue tension or excessive "all - in -ness." Perhaps their secret is that they have connected their lives to the infinite power of God and can, therefore, say with Paul, "Not that we are sufficient of ourselves . . . but our sufficiency is of God;" and, with the Psalmist, "Commit thy way unto the Lord; trust also in Him; and He shall bring it to pass."

Christ Lives

Lesson for April 1, 1956

"CHRIST is risen!" The words will be said and sung many thousand times this Easter. What do they mean? Let us leave out of sight all those to whom the words mean nothing but a vestige of superstition at the worst, a picturesque symbol of something altogether different, at best. What do these words mean to those who do believe them? It is possible to believe this sentence literally and firmly, and yet be as dead to their joyous meaning as if they were a weather report of 40 years ago. They portend a miracle; but yesterday's miracles may not be especially interesting. Do you feel a kind of rapture on reading about the frogs in Pharaoh's palace, the miracle-frogs? Does it help your malaria to read about the cures St. Paul did at Ephesus?

Dr. Foreman

Yesterday's miracles may even be discouraging, just because they are yesterday's. The Resurrection of Christ is not in a class with any other miracle. For the early Christians it was THE event of history.

The Opened Eye

It is no accident that the church says and sings, "Christ is risen" more often than "Christ rose." The Resurrection is a kind of contemporary miracle. It has many meanings, but consider three of them, in the lives of the plain people who first experienced the truth of it. Remember, the Resurrection was nothing they had been looking for, nothing they had the wit to invent. It came as a shock, it upset all their ideas, it remade their world. First of all and including everything else, the Resurrection means the presence, here and today not less than there in the dawn of Christian time, the presence of the living Christ, the present companion of all who love him. First of all, his presence there in Emmaus and indeed on the road across the hills, meant the opened eye. With him for guide, the man Cleopas and his friend saw things in the Scriptures they had never seen before. The Scriptures, like a closed gate, opened to their inward eye. Then in the supper-room as the bread was broken, again their eyes were opened, and they knew him. So the risen Christ today and always opens the eyes of men; inspired by him, we understand God's Book and God's Son as we can never do alone.

The Burning Heart

The second thing the disciples felt was a burning heart. John Calvin invented a coat of arms for himself, showing an outstretched hand and a burning heart, offered to God. It might serve as the coat of arms for all who have felt the presence of the living risen Christ. Two young men were arguing about the Resurrection, and they were greatly puzzled about it. They asked a much older man what were his reasons for believing it to be true. "Why," the old man said, "I just talked with Him this morning!" Life gains a warmth, a flame, from contact with Christ as from no other contact possible. Jesus as a historical character excites our curiosity, our imagination. Christ as a problem in theology excites us to think. But Christ as a living presence sets life on fire. Who are the people who witness most enthusiastically about Jesus? They are the ones who will sing, "He walks with me and he talks with me . . ." That Jesus lived is interesting and important. That he lives, lives now, in me—that is life-changing.

The Hastening Feet

All around the world this Easter churches will be ringing with song and bright with flowers. In the most unlikely places, there are Christians. You will find that those churches in far places were started there by men and women who believed in and knew the risen Christ. If there is a church which calls itself "Christian" but does not believe in the Resurrection, its Christ is as dead as any other bygone hero. Such a church will not send many missionaries. A dead Christ hurries no man's footsteps, eases no man's burden, lights no man's hour of sorrow. Only the living Christ kindles the burning heart, opens the blind eyes, sets men's feet upon a rock, and sends them out, like the first Christians, to challenge a world in his name. The feet of the two men hastening from Emmaus were but the first of billions, eager with God's good news.

Bates Lane News

By Mrs. L. M. Bishop

There were 256 in Sunday School at High View Baptist Church last Sunday. We had a very pretty day for our ground breaking service. Work will begin soon on the new educational building.

There will be two church services Easter Sunday morning. The first at 8:30 then Sunday School at 9:45 and the regular service at 11. The worship services will be indentical, so you may attend either or both. All invited to attend. You are also invited to attend Sunday School, the training union, and evening service.

We have been having good attendance this week at our revival meetings. Bro. Noah Benningfield has been bringing some fine messages.

Mr. Bobby and Donnie Gray were in an auto accident last Sunday. Bobby was hurt pretty bad. We pray he will soon be restored to good health.

Mrs. Herschel Hatfield spent several days in the hospital last week.

Mrs. Les Kaufman underwent a gall-bladder operation at Kentucky Baptist Hospital last week.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Brentlinger and daughter, Barbara, arrived here Monday morning from Bradenton, Fla. Mr. Brentlinger's mother, Mrs. Bessie Brentlinger, and Mrs. Brentlinger's father, Mr. Hatfield were both very ill. Mrs. Bessie Brentlinger is planning on returning to Florida with them the last of the week for a visit. They hope the Florida sunshine will help her.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Brentlinger were Tuesday night supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Hatfield.

Mr. William Edgar Coe flew to Bowling Green Tuesday on business. Didn't take as long to go as it takes to drive to Louisville.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gardner and family have moved into their new home in Fern Creek Acres.

The High View Home Club attended "Coffee Call" last Thursday and came away with a lot of nice gifts. Mrs. Betty Griffey got an orchid and cake. Mrs. Peggy Gardner got an electric coffee pot for singing a solo. Mrs. Noah Benningfield received a thermos bottle. They returned to Mrs. Gardners for lunch and the regular monthly meeting.

Christ, who died on the cross to save us from our sins, arose from the grave Easter Sunday morning. The least we can do is arise from our beds and attend the church of our choice on this great day. Won't you go with the family to church on this Sunday?

By Mrs. Joe Baete

There is still a lot of sickness in the community which held the number in Sunday School down to 147 last Sunday. Mr. John Stevens isn't doing so well. They took him to Norton Infirmary last week. We hope he soon shows some improvement.

Mrs. Vernetta Smith is reported as suffering with a heart ailment.

Mr. Mason Goatley is some improved. He was baptized at High View Church of Christ last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Roberson and children have been absent from church for several weeks on account of the sickness and death of Mrs. Roberson's father, Mr. John W. Felker, English, Ind. Mrs. Felker will come here this week to spend an indefinite time with her daughter and family. Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Roberson, parents of Mr. Chester, who spent the winter in Florida, had just returned. So they kept the fires burning and stayed with the children while Chester and Dorotha were away.

Mrs. Elizabeth Roberson is slowly improving.

James H. Bates Elementary School

The school wishes to take this opportunity to publicly thank all the kind people who supported our minstrel program last week. From the shivering fathers who directed the parking cars outside, to the sweltering mothers who became the most efficient of costume changers inside, we are truly grateful. Also due for recognition are those patient souls who found themselves in the standing room only situation both nights. Every possible seating device was pressed into service, but many had to perch one place and then another. However, we were most pleased with the enthusiasm that was evidenced by performers and audience alike. Thanks again to one and all!

We are planning our spring paper drive April 19-20 the week after spring vacation April 9-13. If you can save this commodity for us and bring it by the school, we can turn your salvage into much needed library books. If bulk transportation provides a problem, call the school at Fern Creek 3-4915.

Numbers in the sky can be effected by a swirling kite as members of Mrs. Laura Southard's 2nd grade class can testify. Recently, a tailless kite was airborne by accommodating March winds and the light framework was put through a series of gyrations by Mrs. Southard who was unaware of the figure 8's, 3's, 2's, 6's, etc., that registered on several of her junior mathematicians. They promptly asked if she hadn't forgotten to insert a "5" on the "blue board." — Conrad Ott.

'56 HEART FUND DRIVE EXCEEDS GOAL BY $31,000

Kentuckians contributed $256,767.52 to the 1956 Heart Fund drive in February, according to a final campaign report released by Philip P. Ardery, president of the Kentucky Heart Association.

Only a few scattered communities haven't yet announced their complete drive results, Ardery stated, but "they will make little appreciable difference in the over-all figure." The state goal was $225,000.

Farmers' Share Of Food Dollar Cited By Farm Bureau Official

The farmers' share of each dollar consumers spend for food is being stressed in speaking engagements by J. E. Stanford, director of public relations of the Kentucky Farm Bureau.

"Last year the farmer received only 40 cents out of each dollar spent for food, whereas he was getting 53 cents out of each dollar in 1945," said Stanford in a speech to the Glasgow Lions Club. The meeting was only one of many where he is pointing out that farmers' share of the food dollar has dropped, while the cost of marketing services has increased tremendously.

"Farmers' income has declined about 34% since 1947, while farm production costs have climbed about 20 per cent during the same period," said Stanford. He said that the farmers' share of the national income has shrunk to about five and one-half per cent.

While farmers have been losing some of their share of the food dollar, housewives have been paying more for the food they serve, he said.

"For example," he said, "If the farmer gave away his milk, a 23-cent bottle of milk would still cost the consumer 13 cents. Or, if a farmer gave away his hogs a 50-cent cut of pork would still cost the consumer 25 cents."

This unequal switch has resulted in farmers being the lowest paid group of workers in the country, Stanford said. "And it has forced farmers to cut back on buying equipment they need for production purposes."

Stanford has written a pamphlet called "The Truth About Farm Prices" which is being distributed without charge by the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation. Copies of it can be obtained from the Kentucky Farm Bureau, 120 South Hubbard Lane, Louisville 7.

And, to be sure you know exactly how fast your pigs are gaining and at what cost we provide frequent free pig-weighing service on your farm. The Purina Plan was built from experience with 35,000 hogs. Choose from our complete feed plan or get more from your grain by adding Micro-Mixed Purina Supplements. Ask about our Purina Profit Plan.

These Chicks will be DeKalb Cockerels.

GOOD CHICKS DESERVE GOOD CARE TO DO THEIR BEST

If you order our quality chicks right away and put them down within the next couple of weeks, there's still time to cash in on expected higher egg prices next fall.

We know you'll want to grow them well because poorly grown pullets seldom pay for their keep. Be sure you order only as many birds as you have sufficient room to grow.

And remember, there's a big difference in feed. The difference feeders see in livability, and results is the reason why more chicks and pullets are fed Purina Chows than any other brand of feed.

HOW TO START THEM

Start your chicks on new Super Chick Startena — 2 lbs. each for light birds and 3 lbs. each for heavies. Next, change to Purina Bite-Size Growena Checkers, for complete feeding, or to Purina Growing Chow and grain, fed free choice.

At 10 weeks of age, the complete feeder should change to Bite-Size Pullet Developer Checkers. Those wishing to feed a bulky scratch (oats or barley) should start feeding scratch, free choice, while continuing to feed Bite-Size Growena Checkers. Insoluble grit should be supplied free choice whenever scratch grain is fed.

HEALTH HINT

Let your chicks drink themselves back to health when cocci breaks out by giving them inexpensive, effective Purina Sulfa-Nox. Droopiness and bloody droppings are the warning signs. Watch for them and act fast with Sulfa-Nox.

We'll Help You Raise A Calf

Boys and girls planning to raise club calves for show this year should choose their animals soon. Better talk over your project with dad and your club leader.

Write E. A. Sindecuse, Ralston Purina Co., Checkerboard Square, St. Louis, Missouri for a colorful brochure telling how to select a calf, how to feed, train and fit a champion. Ask for our booklet, "How to Build Champions the Purina Way."

Farm Income Varies Widely During Year, U.S.D.A. Estimates

Kentucky farmers received nearly half of their income the past year in the two months of January and December, according to estimates made by the United States Department of Agriculture and reported by Dr. Dana G. Card, economist in the U.K. Agricultural Experiment Station.

Receipts from farm marketings in the state in 1955 totaled about $532,000,000, of which $260,000,000 were received in the first and last months of the year, it was noted. A similar situation other years is quite generally true, said Dr. Card. Unless farmers plan ahead as to how their money is to be used, many find it necessary to borrow money at some time in the intervening months. April provided lowest income, when only about 4 per cent of the total was received.

About 54 per cent of the income of Kentucky farmers last year came from crops and 46 per cent from livestock and livestock products. Receipts from crops were much more variable than from livestock and livestock products. The former varied from less than 1 per cent in April to 48 per cent in December, 31 per cent in January and 8 per cent in November. The importance of tobacco in Kentucky's agriculture is reflected in nearly 80 per cent of the year's sale of crops being made in the two months with greatest income.

Income from the sale of livestock products was distributed quite uniformly throughout the year. October was the heaviest month with almost 10 per cent of the year's total receits from these products. February was the lowest month, but more than 6 per cent of the year's total was received at that time.

Farmers can stabilize their income somewhat by growing a diversity of crops which mature at different times during the year, but having livestock enterprises also will appear to insure more stability of income, Dr. Card said.

LAMB INCENTIVE PAYMENTS TO TOTAL $1,000,000

Roy C. Gray, chairman of the Kentucky ASC Committee, reported this week that eligible producers who sold lambs and yearlings and shorn wool during the 1955 marketing year will receive approximately $1,000,000 from the Department of Agriculture in form of incentive payments.

The amount represents the difference between the national wool incentive price of 62 cents and the national average price which producers received on the open market. The marketing year runs from April 1, 1955 to March 31, 1956.

Gray urged all farmers who sold lambs and yearlings and shorn wool during the year to file applications for incentive payments with local ASC offices as soon as possible. The deadline is April 30.

BUY-NOTES on FOOD

From Extension Service, Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics

Would you like a new look in your Easter dinner; a new fashion in food, so to speak?

Fashion in the ham this year decrees a new lean look. The fat of many quick cured hams has been trimmed to the very minimum, leaving just enough fat to assure you of juicy, flavorable eating with a minimum of waste,

In some markets you may find boneless and skinless hams which are all sliceable meat, from end to end. Canned hams fall into this group. Boneless hams represent practically no waste and the higher price per pound will be off set by the reduced waste.

If a whole ham doesn't fit your needs, you will still find hams in other forms. Perhaps a bit of a reminder as to the cuts you will find is in order. Butt half and shank half used to be the way you found ham when it wasn't whole, but today many markets carry butt and shank portions. Ham sold as butt or shank half means the ham was divided only. If the label is marked butt or shank portion, this may mean that part of the center slices were removed; or may mean that all were cut out. To be happy with your Easter ham be sure you know what you are buying, because the new look has come to the ham in several ways.

Should you want to eat ham for one meal only, the center slices may be purchased in various thickness, to suit your taste for broiling or baking. Of course since this is the choice part of the ham, it is naturally more expensive; but if your family is one which will not, and does not eat left-overs; even though they be ham, this may be the cheaper buy for you.

The way you prepare your ham will depend upon how the ham was treated before you purchased it. Ready-to-eat hams have been cooked long enough to serve without any additional cooking, however, many people like to cook it for 14 minutes to the pounds; add spices and seasonings to give it a home-baked taste. In the case of fully-cooked hams, they should not be given any additional cooking or they will become dry and not slice well. Tender or tenderized hams are partially cooked and need additional cooking.

To enjoy the flavor and goodness you pay for, take care of that ham you buy when you get it home. Your meat dealer has done his part by keeping it refrigerated, so by all means keep it refrigerated when you get it home.

After the ham is cooked, it still requires refrigeration and should be used within a week.

Good as ham is, you may tire of it before the week after Easter has run its course, so why not plan to freeze the part that is left-over. Plan to use the ham which you freeze within 2 months. Cured and smoked meats do not freeze too well because they deteriorate rapidly in flavor. This is due to the salt in the fat, and a rancidity which it can produce; hence the short storage time recommended for freezing.

Averages Reported For Moser, Houchin Herds

Announcement has been received from the Holstein-Friesian Association of America of the completion of a yearly herd average on the registered Holstein cows of John A. Moser, Worthington, and Houchin Brothers, Valley Station.

Briscoe Lane News

By Mrs. Charles Goatley

Well folks, March is still howling around. It had better hurry, if it aims to go out like a lamb. There is so much sickness in the community now. The High View Church of Christ fell off in number Sunday on account of sickness. We had 147 in Sunday School, and we aways have near a full house for preaching services and communion.

We have some new ones every Sunday to come in and they are always welcome to the house to worship, for it isn't our house, it is the Lord's house and all people are welcome, regardless of their beliefs.

Our church is making plans for the Daily Vacation Bible School. It will begin the first Monday in June, the 4th, and continue on through 2 weeks to the 15th of June. The program will be on Sunday evening, June 17. All children are welcome from all community. There will be transportation, call Edward Schreiner, Fern Creek 3-7867 for particulars.

Brother Schreiner gave us a good lesson yesterday. More scripture to memorize. John 3-16-17-18. Matthew 22-37. James 2-10. Isaiah 53-54-55-56-57. Our Sunday School lesson was, Jesus, crucified. — 1 Corinthians 13-1. "Though I speak with the tongue of men and of angels, and have not charity. I am become as sounding brass, or a tinkling cymbal."

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Spears of Indianapolis, were down visiting for several days last week. They visited his sister, Mrs. Dr. McMahan, of Seatonville for several days and with her sister, Mrs. Charles Goatley, over night, and visited Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kaufman of Bardstown Road, old friends of theirs. Mr. Spears has been operated on for gall bladder, he got along fine and expects to go back to work in 3 weeks. They left for home last Friday.

Mr. J. T. Stevens of Taylorsville, is in the Norton Infirmary with a blood clot and high blood pressure.

Mrs. Seabolt, Fern Creek, has her mother, Mrs. Sarah Parrott of Sellersburg, Ind., staying with her. She is ill at this time.

Mr. W. B. Reader came home from Florida with a cold, but is much better now. He went to church yesterday.

Mason Goatley is better in ways, but he still has a sick mind at times, he was worried and wanted to be baptized. Last Friday morning, Bro. Schreiner, Mrs. Schreiner and several others took him to the Church of Christ, and baptized him into Christ. He told me he feels so much better now. He is ready for what ever happens, he needs our prayers.

The ladies Bible class will meet at the church basement this Wednesday to do some more quilting and sewing for the missionaries. We all have such good times together and get work done for the Lord too.

(Delayed)

Well folks March came in like a lion and is still growling around. But it still has time to go out like a lamb.

We had 151 present for Sunday School Sunday at High View Church of Christ and a full house for preaching and communion services. There are still quite a number of sick. Brother Schreiner brought us a good lesson, telling us how to equip ourselves, to go out and to talk to our friends and neighbors. He wants all who will to bring their Bibles to church and follow right along with him, memorize certain parts, be able to quote Scripture and tell where to find it. If we are ashamed to carry our Bibles to church with us, then Jesus will be ashamed of us before our father in heaven.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Reader had unexpected company for supper Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Kinman and children, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Luna and daughter from Buechel.

Mr. W. B. Reader has returned home from Florida. He has been gone since Thanksgiving. He had a wonderful time and is looking fine.

Mrs. Dorothy Reader, of Bullitt County, is working at the G.E. plant.

Miss Betty Gene Farris was graduated from the beautician school and has gone to work at Selmans. She has to work as an apprentice for a year before she can have her own Beauty Shop.

Mrs. M. D. Spencer and little daughter, Deborah, visited with her mother, Mrs. Charles Goatley, and sister, Mrs. R. J. Stark, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Spears, Indianapolis is visiting his sister, Mrs. McMahan, Seatonville, this week. They will visit her sister, Mrs. Charles Goatley, a few days before they go home.

Our neighbors across the road, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Moore, and Mr. and Mrs. David Wiram have sold their home. The Moore family will move to Birmingham, Ala., as Mr. Moore has a position there.

Mr. and Mrs. Cass L. Timmons' daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Michie, have bought themselves a home in Buechel Terrace. They will move as soon as they get possession.

They held a youth rally Sunday afternoon in New Albany at the Cherry Street Church of Christ. Our young peoples chorus from High View went and joined several other choruses and sang.

Mr. Henry Farris, Smyrna Road, is building himself a new ranch type house. He has it about ready for the roof.

Mr. Ben Welch and Mr. George McNally are both at the General Hospital. Most of our sick are much better at this writing we are glad to report.

Our weather man says and we quote, that "spring is just around the corner but he doesn't know which corner." Rain or shine Mr. Anderson is always "O.K." any way.

Mr. and Mrs. Noble Porter were recent 6 o'clock dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Whaley, Sr.

FROM MY VIEW OF HIGH VIEW

By Martha Ballinger

You're goin' to have callers! If you live in High View, you are! You see, the High View Fire Department have already gone a shoppin' for their 1956 fish fry festival to be held at the playground on Briscoe Lane Saturday, June 16.

And since this was done with you in mind . . . it would be a shame not to contact each one of you personally to tell you about the wonderful things our High View firemen have lined up for you. Your High View firemen wil be knocking at your door and they will get to your home just as rapidly as possible.

Meantime, while you're waiting, let's play a game! Do you like riddles? Let's sit down and try one!

You'll have a Royal Chef
And you'll be proud that
I am yours.
I'm always ready to please your guests
With sensitive palates, they are easy tests.
I cook your food done
to a "T"
And do this well and tenderly.
What am I?
(Hint . . . I'll be at the H.V.F.D. fish fry festival)

Did you solve it? All High View firemen are carrying around the answer to this riddle. So, if you are "stuck" . . . just call your nearest firemen . . . or contact Leo Jackson Fern Creek 3-5785 or Oscar Vogt Fern Creek 3927.

And to all non-residents of High View . . . we are only sorry we don't have enough time and manpower to call at your home. We're sorry, too, that in our allotted space we just can't begin to tell you about all the perfectly beautiful things we have in store for you. You will be passing up a golden opportunity if you don't contact one of our High View firemen for all the details. Our fire chief is Joe Stark Fern Creek 3120 and our assistant fire chief is Jim Cottrill, Fern Creek 3390. Give 'em a ring!

Addition Plannned At St. Matthews School

Plans for a new addition to Holy Trinity High School, St. Matthews, to contain from eight to 12 classrooms, two laboratories, a library, cafeteria and chapel are being drawn by architect Walter C. Wagner, according to an announcement of the Rev. Alfred Steinhauser, principal.

The present building, formerly Holy Trinity Elementary School, will be renovated, Father Steinhauser said. Approximately 200 more pupils are expected in September to bring the total to 600. The high school began with freshmen and added a grade each year. The first class is to be graduated in 1957.

Father Steinhauser said that beginning in September the school will be known as Trinity High to avoid confusion with the Holy Trinity Elementary School at 501 Cherrywood Road. The high school has no connection with Holy Trinity Parish.

Newburg News

By Mrs. J. H. Shively

So glad to be able to join The Jeffersonian family again and to go to church after my little flare up. The many kindnesses of my relatives and friends and their prayers helped me to get well, and I am very grateful for them all.

Many sick folks to report. Mrs. Simrell and Chuckie, Mrs. L. P. Jones and Mrs. L. R. Stivers. But all are better. Mrs. L. P. Jones had a severe case of "flu" but Dr. Slucher soon got it under control. Mr. Hugh B. Standiford is also sick with "flu."

Many pre-Easter activities at the church this week and I expect to attend some of them.

We missed Mrs. Manly Sunday also Mrs. Emly and it was a great joy to see Mrs. Virginia Simmons again at church.

Mr. and Mrs. David Schwartz entertained at dinner Sunday in honor of Mrs. Schwartz's brother who was home on furlough, he is serving in the air force. Mrs. C. Schwartz was also a guest in this home for dinner.

Our hearts were gladdened Sunday when at the close of a most impressive sermon by Bro. Simrell Mrs. Curry joined the church and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bridgewater took membership with the Newburg congregation. Lillie Mae attended Newburg church when quite young with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Applegate. The tie was still there and now she is one of us and we are so happy to have them we know they are going to be a great help to us and we hope to be to them.

Mr. Dan Johnson our male soloist of the Newburg choir, had a birthday March 24, and we hope a very happy one.

Talked with our good friend Mrs. Lee Sutherland this morning and she is having severe heart attacks. Pray for her and send her a cheery card. We miss her every where she was always so active and doing for the people. Mrs. Norris and Verna Lee are spending the day with her today.

Mrs. Frank Arnold, Sr., and Mrs. Tom Flanagan and attractive little daughter, Lynne, visited us recently and we enjoyed them so much. Mrs. Arnold brought us a large steak from their own butchering and it was delicious.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Hart and sons were Sunday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Cook and Mrs. Shively and we always enjoy them so much.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Martin are spending several weeks in Tennessee where Mr. Martin has a job of carpenter work.

Anyone planning to bring potted lillies or cut flowers to church for Easter Sunday, please bring them to the church or Bro. Simrell's Saturday afternoon or night.

JAMES H. BATES

Cub scouts from Pack 140, Den 1, led the pledge to the flag that opened the March meeting of the James H. Bates Elementary School P.-T.A. The Rev. John Kirstein gave the devotional, concisely commenting that in order to relieve confused world conditions, these four "H's" are necessary; "harmony, humility, helpfulness, and hope." Mrs. Howard Haynes then sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Conrad Ott, principal of the school, offered food for thought as he related a conversation with a Brooklyn, N.Y. principal whom he encountered at the recent Elementary Principal's Convention in Denver, Colo., Conditions are such in a specified Junior High School in Brooklyn that police protection must be afforded to faculty members, and Mr. Ott sagely summarized that we should count as a blessing the fact that similar precautionary measures are not a reality in our community.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, the program was presented, which consisted of the dramatization of a day's activities at Bates School. Under the direction of Mrs. Laura Marattay, the children smoothly depicted a typical learning situation in the modern day classroom. Participants in this interesting portrayal were the following fourth grade students:

Patty Paris, Nancy Shields, Jackie Rasner, Connie Williams, Donna Sue Roundtree, Lorraine Haynes, Gerald Huffman, Ronnie Beck, Billy Hughes, and Bill Davis.

After the meeting was adjourned, refreshments were served by second grade mothers. Room count was won by Mrs. Marattay. — Publicity chairman.

She presented facts about the H-bomb, and why it is necessary for every individual to be prepared and educated against any emergency, be it man-made or an act of nature. As good Americans, it is our privilege and duty to join our local civil defense organization.

The State P.-T.A. convention to be held April 30 through May 2 in Cincinnati was announced, also a P.-T.A. paper sale to be held April 5 and 6 from 7:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day. Trailer will be on playgrounds. — Mrs. H. L. Smith, publicity chairman.
